Alignment to Proposal	Sustainability / Taper Rationale
Provides operational capacity for Calling, Care, Community, and Renewal pathway implementation. Ensures personnel support is budgeted realistically and responsibly. Directly funds the Calling pathway and reinforces the proposal's focus on vocation, discernment, and women's leadership formation.	Personnel costs taper in later years as institutional support, partner systems, and ongoing operations absorb more functions. Fringe tapers automatically with personnel through formula-driven calculations.
Directly funds the Care pathway and strengthens the partnership with Sankofa CPE LLC. Directly funds the Community pathway and strengthens the partnership with Salvation and Social Justice. Directly funds the Renewal pathway and balances investment with the Calling pathway to underscore renewal as a core element of the Turner Model.	Costs taper as cohort models are established and integrated into Turner's ongoing formation infrastructure. Costs taper as training models and partner protocols are established for ongoing use. Costs taper as community engagement models and shared partner infrastructure mature. Costs taper as TLCH becomes embedded in Turner's ongoing leadership development and coaching framework.
Responds to Lilly's emphasis on multiplying opportunities and expanding access to settings where individuals can explore Christian practices. Provides flexible support for integrated participant experience without duplicating pathway-specific allocations. Aligns with the proposal's communication strategy for sharing insights with churches, ministry leaders, theological educators, and faith-based organizations. Aligns with the proposal's evaluation plan and supports data-driven decision-making, continuous improvement, and replication. Aligns with the proposal's commitment to institutional integration and long-term replication beyond the grant period.	Costs taper as Turner institutionalizes the cohort and retreat model and leverages partner sites. Reduced relative to pathway categories to keep the budget aligned with direct pathway implementation. Costs taper as communication tools and templates are developed and integrated into institutional channels. Evaluation investment shifts toward summative assessment and final reporting during the last two years. This line increases over time to demonstrate intentional transition from launch funding to sustainability infrastructure.

Supports access across residential, hybrid, coaching, clinical, and community-based settings.

Ensures responsible grant administration without overbuilding overhead.

Technology costs taper as infrastructure is established and absorbed by institutional systems.

Kept modest and formula-driven to emphasize stewardship and maximize programmatic investment.
